

Free Clinic Conducts Dental "Tooth-tacular" for Clinic Patients

October 26, 2007

The Halloween-themed event for uninsured NRV residents is the 2nd of the year for the Dental Clinic and is scheduled to relieve the long list of patients seeking dental care. 35 patients who have been waiting several weeks received treatment (including exams, x-rays, fillings, and extractions) at "Tooth-tacular".

The event was possible due to a commitment from several local dentists and their staffs who volunteered their time to provide these services. They include: Dr. William Armour, Dr. Charles French II, Dr. John Semones, and Dr. Michael Bond. Several Virginia Tech student Free Clinic volunteers also committed their day to provide administrative and chair-side assistance. One student, Dustin Bond, even recruited his father, Michael Bond, DDS, from Gretna, to provide volunteer services.
