

Free Clinic of the New River Valley Announces Staff Change

March 21, 2008

The Free Clinic of the New River Valley has announced that Rhonda G. Seltz, M.S. has been promoted to the position of Director of Programs. Seltz will be responsible for managing the day-to-day operations of the clinic's programs which include pharmacy, dental and medical.

Seltz has worked with the Free Clinic of the New River Valley as a Dental Program Consultant since 2007. Seltz will continue to manage the Dental Program in her new role as Director of Programs.

Along with her full time position at the Free Clinic, Seltz is also an Assistant Instructor at Radford University teaching Social Work classes to undergraduate students and the coordinator for Radford University's FAMIS Outreach Project where she assists families with their applications for state health coverage. Seltz helped in drafting a proposal for FAMIS which helped the organization receive one of 18 grants offered throughout the nation.

Prior to coming to the Free Clinic, Seltz was also a social worker for Floyd County Department of Social Services and a Legal Aid in Christiansburg.

The Free Clinic of the New River Valley provides high quality medical, dental, and specialty health care to people of the New River Valley area who are uninsured and who cannot otherwise afford health care. Contact the Free Clinic of the New River Valley at 540-381-0820 for more information.
